Training Workshop on
Premarital Counseling and Marriage Enrichment

Premarital counseling and marriage enrichment are important counseling methods to build strong and healthy marriages, much needed in our society where marriage and family problems are on the rise, ending in painful separations and divorces. The Prepare/Enrich program is designed for preventive and educational counseling with couples before problems with relationships become serious and irreversible. The training workshop will train people who are in the helping professions, including doctors, psychologists, marriage and family therapists, social workers, counselors, pastors and pastoral workers, teachers, counseling students and others, with prior training in counseling, to use the Prepare/Enrich inventories in assessing couple relationships accurately and comprehensively, and to use the detailed 15-page computer generated report in counseling.

Each trainee will receive a certificate of attendance with a counselor number that qualifies him or her to start using this useful tool in counseling with couples.

Workshop objectives:

1. To understand the theory and practice of premarital counseling and marriage enrichment.
2. To learn to use the Prepare/Enrich inventories in making assessment of couple relationships.
3. To learn to use the counselor report from Prepare/Enrich in counseling couple, either in premarital counseling or in marriage enrichment.
